THE PRESBYTERIAN

Mutual Assurance Fund

OF LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY.

BENNETT H. YOUNG, President.

JNO. C. KING, Vice President.

W. J. WILSON, Secretary.

FRANK C. WILSON, Med. Director.

An Insurance Association designed to secure a safe and cheap Mutual Insurance. Separated into divisions, each division contains 2,000 names. Amounts of Insurance with full divisions, $2,000. No premiums. Assessments only upon death of members. Dues, $1.00 a quarter; $5.00 per week paid to every member incapacitated by serious sickness from attending to business.

This corporation cannot break. Its funds cannot be wasted. You do not pay large premiums to amass a surplus to tempt the cupidity of officers.

The surest and most popular insurance ever offered.

Membership fee, $5.00; Medical examination, $2.00; first quarter's dues, $1.00 in advance.

This Association is for Mutual Protection. We contribute toward a fund which is solely used to pay certificates of members in the event of death and sickness. A strict Medical examination is required before any one can become a member. The classification, according to ages, is so calculated upon the average expectation of life that a young man at a lowest rate of assessment will, in a life time, pay no more than an older man at a higher rate. Your permanent assessment rate is determined by the age at which you enter, viz: If then 18 to 30 years of age, $1.00; 30 to 40, $1.25; 40 to 50, $1.50; 50 to 55, $2.00; 55 to 60, $3.00. For further particulars as to mode of securing membership, or for charters, blanks, etc., apply to JESSE S. WILLIAMS, Hartford, Ky.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

Would you pluck the sweetest flower
Growing on the earth below?
If so, search not eastern bowers
Where the "spicy breezes" blow.

Search not on the lofty mountain
For this flower so rare and sweet,
Nor yet by the crystal fountain
Flowing upward at your feet.

Go not deep into the wilderness
There to seek the precious prize,
Nor back to the scenes of childhood
O'er your longings, anxious eyes.

Look not in conservatory
It is not a greenhouse plant,
For it blooms in all its glory
Where all other growth is scant.

Look not on the earth beneath you,
Nor back to the scenes of childhood
O'er your longings, anxious eyes,
It is a pure woman's love.

Litchfield Blacksmiths.

LITCHFIELD, April 13, 1881.

Editor Herald:

I read in your last week's issue, over the name of the "Herald," writing from this place, a statement that blacksmiths have refused to repair plows, etc., sold by merchants. We deny refusing to repair plows that have been sold by them. We do positively refuse to repair all sold after April 1, 1881. We think plows and all farming implements legitimately belong to our line.

Only four years ago farmers were waging war with merchants, but now it seems that they almost ignore the rights of mechanics.

We propose to handle all farming implements at a very small margin, and to expect a patronage. Merchants have become rich in the last few years, while mechanics are unable to make an honest support. It has become a serious matter with us.

We would recommend mechanics in every section to enter into combinations similar to ours only for self-protection—not to extortion.

Editor Herald:

Several sales of stock have been made here in the last few days. Mr. James Allen sold his bay horse to John Smith for $80; Mrs. A. Wallace sold to Mr. Neal Hoover her mare for $75; Mr. Walter Allen bought a horse of Mr. Chapman, of your town, for $65; Mr. Wood Tinsley bought a mare of Mr. T. L. Allen for $65. Mr. Orgill Newscomb bought of Miss Missouri Park one horse for $75. Who got a horse to sell?

MR. JAMES ALLEN, of this place, has been visiting his son, Mr. J. W. Taylor, has gone home. He has the kindest wishes of the many friends who love him.

Mr. Editor, send some fuel to Torch that we may once more see his light in the Bend. Torch, where art thou?

Mr. Wm. Cain raised a tobacco barn on the 14th inst.

Mr. Poole should not be so hard on Torch for he says there is more money in selling magazines than in killing squirrels and peddling them at fifteen cents each.

Mr. J. W. Bryant is able to help his neighbors at log-rollings and house-raising and talk on the subject of female suffrage, which he is highly in favor of. Mr. Bryant will make the next race for President on this ticket.

A FRIEND.

Our Roads.

In my last I promised to say something about what I believe would be an improvement upon the present method of working roads or would at least insure the keeping of roads in a better condition.

My plan is to let present road laws stand as they are and have the County Court appoint some competent man at a reasonable salary per day, to take charge of and oversee the working of all the principal roads leading out of town for some five or six miles. From there on they are much less used and may be worked in the usual way. He could arrange it so as to work one road at a time and work all the roads well in two or three weeks. Let this be done as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and if well done they will need but little attention in the fall, and will be firm and in good condition for winter wear. Roads are worked mostly by farmers, and some of them are not able to pay five or six dollars a year for road tax, but they are able to give that many days' work and are willing to do it. They don't want to be drones or "dead-beats" in the community. If there are any such I would join with Tramp in advising them to migrate west and become targets for the Indians. There are others who are illily able to spare that amount of money, and would much prefer doing the work. If some should prefer paying the money they can hire a hand to do the work for them and remain at home.

It may be said that this plan would require some tax. Very true; but the amount would be quite small in comparison with Tramp's plan, and it may be that a little economy in other directions would obviate the necessity of increasing the county levy. Whether it does or not, if it incurs us better roads, (as I believe it will) it will have accomplished the much-desired object.

McLean County.

April 9, 1881.

Editor Herald:

Farmers are somewhat backward in this part of the vineyard. Some are preparing ground for corn. We are rather mixed about what kind of tobacco to raise—Burley or the old stand-by.

Candidates are making their appearance in this part of the moral vineyard.

Had the pleasure of a call from Mr. Lizzie Bennett a few days since. Mr. Bennett is a man of the right ring.

He commended him to all good citizens as the right man (if fortunate enough to get the office) in the right place.

I think he will make a good County Attorney, for which he aspires. We have three aspirants for the office of Attorney, subject, I suppose to the Democratic convention.

The reason I say Mr. Bennett is the right man is that his influence is against temperance—something all citizens ought to look at. Those other gentlemen may be temperate also; but if not, let all such step down and out. All good citizens are becoming aroused on that subject, or at least a good portion.

I think Mr. Bennett will run on his own merits. He declares he will not use money or treating with whiskey. I hope that the voters of our fair land will turn out, and against intemperance candidates for any office, even down to the constable's office. Let us have sober men to fill our offices, if we don't get as smart men as some that make the grog-shop their retreat. I would be glad to see our county papers denounce all such candidates that drink whiskey. After they get in office they will be sure to get worse and such are not fit to fill any office. I don't think a man has any right to convict a man for an act done under the influence of rum if he uses the same. Good speed the day when the whiskey traffic will be banished from the land.

It is time all the Christian people of our land are aroused on the subject of temperance. When we look around the whiskey traffic, for God's sake let us suppress it. Then we will have peace and prosperity in our land; we will not hear the wail of poor widows and orphans for bread, caused by intoxicating drinks. Oh, man of the land, have you a heart as large as a turnip? If you have, why not go to work now to put down the whiskey traffic. Christian people of these United States have it in their power to suppress the traffic. Arouse, oh ye slumbering Christians, and let your light shine that others seeing your good works, they may be constrained to help. If we can't put it down at once, let us drive it from our villages and cross-roads by local option from our State; then prosperity will follow instead of misery and woe.

Morganston Letter.

April 11, 1881.

By far the most stirring event that has transpired in this community recently is that of the failure and assignment of J. C. Skillern, who was born and reared here, and who, for more than twenty years, has been engaged in the mercantile business at this place. His liabilities are ascertained to be about $18,000, and his available assets estimated by his assignees, after paying, at about $5,500. By this failure some of our best citizens are financially ruined and many others greatly injured. Mr. Skillern's break is, however, a clean one, without even a suspicion of any dirty attempt, on his part, to smuggle anything from his creditors, sureties, etc. Of his heavy liabilities, the greater part has to be met by those who are his sureties in bank and for trust funds, etc., here at home. His entire debt at Louisville will not, perhaps, exceed $2,000. He, and those who suffer by his failure, have the sincere sympathy of the thoughtful and good.

The sore threat epidemic which so seriously prevailed here a few weeks since, has disappeared and the general health is good.

Richard LaRue, widower, editor and proprietor of the Elizabethtown News, and who was stricken with paralysis at that place some months ago and removed from there by his father's, Dr. J. R. LaRue's, Woodbury, this county, still continues quite an invalid—not, however, without hope of his ultimate recovery.

L. J. Smith, Esq., a prominent member of the bar here, has been much confined to his room for sometime with lung troubles. It is hoped that when the warm season sets in (if it ever does) he will be out again, giving his wonted laborious attention to his professional business.

Gabe Jones, indicted in our Circuit Court under the klu klux act and out under $2,000 bail, was surrendered by his bondsman last Friday, and while in the clerk's office, where our jailer had stepped in temporarily, when Mr. Rives, jailer, started to leave the office, Jones, who was in the office, started to follow him, and while in the act of doing so, he was arrested by the sheriff, and while in the act of being taken to the jail, he was held over for assault; also for carrying concealed deadly weapons.

That section of our county lately so quickened by the operations of the "hide-busters," or klu klux, has been quiet for some weeks. No recent report of any further whippings, etc., to improve the morals of the erring in their territory.

The National Greenback State Senatorial Convention held at this district at Rochester on the 9th inst., nominated as their candidate for the Senate at ensuing August election, A. E. Newman, Esq., of Muhlenberg county. They say he will accept. Won't he lead a forlorn hope in a politically Balaklavan charge? But will he feel like one of the survivors of the immortal six hundred when 'tis all over? Melvin Willis, Esq., of Edmonson county, is the nominee of the same party for member of the next House of Representatives from Butler and Edmonson counties, and he has entered upon the canvass.

The failure of Judge Carson and Capt. Harris to settle between themselves which shall have the track as the democratic candidate for the Senate, renders the call of a convention to settle this for them inevitable, for if both make the race defeat must result. The question then is, where shall the convention be held? The Democrats of Butler are willing that Hartford be the place. Should Hartford be selected as the place of the meeting of the convention, we can obtain a full delegate representative of the party in the district there. I think we can. Conceding that Judge Carson and Capt. Harris will each carry the support of his own county, then the vote of the Ohio county delegates must determine who shall be the standard-bearer of the party in the ensuing canvass. It, therefore, behooves Judge Carson's friends in Ohio to see to it the honest preference of the majority of the party in their county is heard in said convention. This assured and Judge Carson

The Echo says that the fever of excitement, which has existed in Muhlenberg county for so long a time, has subsided and wants to know the why of such a state of affairs. About the truth of the matter is that there has been more excitement than the facts in the case warranted and the people are just beginning to find it out. The Echo is right, however, in saying that they should not rest on their oars but keep hammering away at an effort to make a compromise or settlement of some kind. It seems to be almost a certainty that the iron bridge for the L. & N. R. R. across the Ohio river will be built at Henderson.

The Louisville Post says that Capt. Sam M. Gaines has descended from the high pedestal of journalism and has become a book agent and candidate.

MR. FRANK W. GAULT, conductor on the P. & E. R. R., is one of the most polite, accommodating conductors we have ever met. He is uniformly courteous and kind to the passengers on his train.

The President has appointed Col. W. E. Holston post-master at Bowling Green, Ky. This is the same Holston who, with his command, raided this county in the summer of 1861 and carried off so many horses.

ON going to press we learn that Earl Beaconsfield, the great leader of the Conservative party in England and author of Endymion, Vivian Grey and other novels, is dead. Short sketch of his life next week.

The Henderson Reporter shows up its neighbor, the News, to be a plagiarist. It is bad enough to plagiarize in any way, but plagiarizing on Holl and Hades is what we call treading on dangerous ground.

The Republican Senators refuse to go into executive session and act on the President's nominations, although there are already 265 of these appointments awaiting confirmation by the Senate. These Republican members are retarding business very seriously.

LAST week we met Mr. R. H. Lacey, Southern Passenger Agent of the J. M. & I. R. R. Co. and Vandallia Line. He proposes to give our people emigrating to Texas and the Northwest cheaper transportation than they have been getting. He will be in this county soon.

A VOYAGE man, of Hancock county, came near being killed by a toy pistol in the hands of his cousin, last week. The young man was sitting down in front of the fire when the youngster came up behind him and said he was going to shoot him. He was told to laugh away he did. The ball entered the neck and had to be removed by physicians. It is thought he will recover.

ONE of the most successful revivals in this State, Rev. Geo. O. Barnes has been engaged in a meeting of twenty-four days duration during which time nine hundred persons professed faith in Christ and were admitted to membership in the various churches. He goes from Lancaster to Richmond where he will hold another series of meetings.

CHRISTIAN county has had another murder. We learn from the New Era that Kish Baker, a sober and steady negro, was going home when he was overtaken by three drunken men who ordered him to "clear the track," which he did by stepping to the roadside. One of the men then drew a pistol and fired, the ball taking effect in his side. He died from the effects of the wound on Wednesday last. Lawlessness is on the increase in Christian.

With pen we note the death of Mrs. Annie Young, wife of Zeno F. Young, editor of the Madisonville Times. For a long time she had been in delicate health and therefore fell an easy victim to the great destroyer of the American people, consumption. Friend Zeno, you have our heartfelt sympathy in this, your sad bereavement, and as such a cloud has never before, so may it never again cover the path of your life in darkness and sorrow.

COL. THOMAS MILLER, a prominent business man and a worthy citizen of Breckenridge county, died at Harbington last Wednesday, April 13. His death was very sudden and we were unable to learn the cause. Col. Miller was widely known and universally respected. He was elected to the Legislature in 1873 and made a very active member. He was School Commissioner of the county at the time of his death and had held the office for several years.

SENATOR BECK still continues to be heard from in the great wind-mill of the nation, at Washington, but to more purpose than the majority of his brother Senators. His latest speech was to show the Republicans in the Mahone-Gorham-Riddleberger bargain and he did to perfection. Senator Dawes, of Massachusetts, attempted a reply but could say nothing in defense of the sale and the affair wound up by his being invited by Beck to go with him to Virginia, at the end of the session, to debate the issues on which the people are so much divided.

ONE way to break the present stoppage in the wheels of the Government occasioned by the so-called dead-lock in the Senate, is for the Democratic members to absent themselves from the Senate chamber entirely. If they were to all leave there would be thirty-eight left and, as it takes a majority of the members to form a quorum, the Republicans would be forced to adjourn or to proceed at once to the business for which the Senate was convened, namely, to confirm the nominations made by the President and to consider the two treaties which are awaiting action.

The Standford hotel, Louisville, is the newest hotel in the city, it is well furnished as the most fastidious could desire, its fare consists of all the substantial dishes and delicacies that money will buy. Everything is prepared in the best manner known to the culinary art.

ELIZABETHTOWN is getting to be as bad as Hopkinsville. They have had two shooting frolics in that place within the last two weeks. The last occurred on the 11th inst., when Joe Lee shot James Winterbower through the hand. Winterbower returned the fire but without effect.

In our last issue we published a clipping from the Bowling Green Democrat which stated that the men who burned the Emory family had been arrested and were in jail at Morgantown. Judge Carson, of that place, called to see us last Monday and stated that the report was entirely false.

MR. B. J. HORTON, General Passenger and Freight Agent of the P. & E. R. R., is the right man in the right place. Having had several years experience in the management of a fast freight line, he brings with him an experience that is almost invaluable. We had the pleasure of meeting him last week and find him to be a courteous, energetic, wide-awake business man.

BECKER is flying out from the center of orthodoxy at a very rapid rate. It says that morality is the result of experiment and that Christ really did not give us the system of religion under which the nations of Christendom live at the present day, but it is the result of the teachings of the Old Testament and other oriental writings. He keeps on advancing or receding all the time and every sermon preached is a clear indication of his gradual departure from the gospel that he once preached. Yet his people still cling to him and no preacher, save the "Great Showman," Talmage, can command a larger audience.

Consistent John. When honest John Sherman (so-called) was Secretary of the Treasury last year he brought about the dismissal of J. H. Vanakin, Tobacco Inspector at Petersburg, Va., because he Vanakin voted with the Readjuster party. Now Sherman, as Senator from Ohio, favors the election of Riddleberger Sergeant at Arms of the Senate and he (Riddleberger) is the author of the bill that Vanakin was discharged for supporting. "Oh consistency, etc."

Moonslayers Molested. Dr. J. W. Church, Deputy Revenue Collector of this district, accompanied by Charles Wickliffe, a Mr. Eaves and another Greenville, whose name we did not learn, went to Caneyville last Thursday evening and proceeded north to the Pine Knob vicinity and lodged a couple of moonslayers, Owen Quiberty and Pink Sap. They found the still and destroyed it, 1,500 gallons of beer, 25 gallons of whiskey and other Friday with the prisoners. Some of this moonshine whiskey was the stuff swallowed that brought about the death to death a few weeks ago, an account of which appeared in the Herald at the time. The prisoners seemed to take their arrest quite coolly and were engaged with the guards in a game of "old sledge," while passing down on the cars.

All but the Beer. The Messenger & Examiner has this to say in regard to our comments on the remarks made by it and the Bowling Green Gazette in regard to the closing of what the M. & E. denotes the "meatly controversy." "If we had asked for an apology from the editor of the Hartford Herald it is having yelped us 'catechism names,' he could not have made such a graceful and satisfactory one as appeared in his last issue, because that was dictated wholly by the spontaneous instincts of a true man who is always prompt to rectify an error as soon as discovered. But the apology was altogether unnecessary, as we have never so much as dreamed of cherishing 'a feeling of resentment' for a single word that has been written during our unsteady correspondence. In this connection, we take occasion to remind the editor of the Herald that the 'back' beer season is hard upon us, and, if he will come over and join us, we will quaff a keg of two to his revivification, his future good health and his never-ending prosperity."

The Pioneer Undertaker. Daniel F. Tracy, the pioneer undertaker and wagonmaker of Hartford, has in store the largest assortment of coffins, cases, caskets, coffin trimmings, burial robes, &c., ever brought to this place, which will be sold low for cash.

He also has farm wares, spring wagons, luggies, phonos, plows, and, in fact, every thing in the woodwork line, which he offers cheap for cash. He is also agent for the Champion Sulky Plow, which has no rival. Mr. Tracy is deserving of the patronage of the farmers and people of Ohio county. When you want anything in his line of goods or implements, give him a call.

RED FRONT ITEMS. Read and Save Money Thereby.

New goods arriving daily. Fresh barrel mackerel, 3 for 5 cents, 7 for 10 cents. Go like hot cakes. Try them.

Bananas, oranges, lemons, apples, cranberries, prunes, pickles, sugar corn, dried currants, apple butter and mince meat just received.

Northern Early Rose and sweet potatoes, very best in town. Don't buy until you see them.

Clover and Timothy seed on hand. Onion seeds and large onions.

Try that 10¢ coffee—splendid. Fresh roasted peanuts—so nice. An endless variety of canned goods. Headquarters for cream cheese, Bologna sausage and fresh crackers.

Crab apple a specialty.

Pure pine tar and coal oil.

Bargains in groceries and provisions.

Proceedings in the House of Representatives have hardly ever been more disgraceful than those of the Senate are at this time. What Senator Mahone said yesterday, addressing Senator Hill, of Georgia, was this: "As the Senator falls here to answer the question, I will give him a problem to solve. I say to him that if he did mean to imply that my vote had been or could be bought, he states or undertakes to convey that which is foul, untruthful and false. No man less than a coward would make that statement." Senators who talk in this way ought to be recalled by the States which sent them. This is excuse for Mahone, that he finds every other Hancock Senator believing that he (Mahone) sold himself to the Republicans is a scandal to be compared to Virginia to send for patronage. They do not use any such language in saying so as Mahone uses, but they make it plain to him. They refuse to fit him with something which is never refused to any Senator held to be fit for association with gentlemen. Naturally, all Deaths.

In Louisville, Ky., April 17th, 1881, at five o'clock, P. M., Stephen Kulp, aged 69 years. Funeral yesterday from Warren Presbyterian church, Nineteenth and Jefferson streets, Louisville. —Courier-Journal.

At the residence of B. C. Fields, near Melherry, Ky., on Thursday, April 7, 1881, at five o'clock, P. M., Mrs. Lydia B. Stevens, in the 71st year of her age. She leaves one sister, three daughters and a host of friends. For many years she had been a devoted member of the Baptist church and she will be sadly missed by all who knew her in the church. M. O. H.

The Best Plow Made.

HARTFORD, April 18. This is to certify that the Champion Sulky Plow, that I bought of Dan F. Tracy, agent at Hartford, Ky., is all that can be claimed for it by the manufacturers, and that I cheerfully recommend it to the farmers of Ohio county as the best investment that can be made with the money. I have tried it thoroughly and find that the work done by it exceeds any that I have seen done by any plow. Very respectfully, S. L. BAIRD.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following couples have been tied together and thrown across the pole of life, there to hang till death does them part, since our last report: N. T. May and Julia Jolly. R. McDonald and Melissa Foster. J. M. Stearns and Susan Williams.

From Anderson's Bazaar.

Home-made carpets wanted. Remember the great bargains in Newport ties when you want a pair.

Mattings at 25 cents—such as you have been paying 35 cents for.

Mr. Cate visited the Bazaar this week to make arrangements for the sale during the coming season of his celebrated jeans. These goods have been greatly improved in finish and will be sold here at extremely low figures—much lower than other jeans will be sold for.

French kid button shoes, handsome and cheap. Solid gold rings, warranted 18 karat, heavy, only $3.00.

It is astonishing what a trade this house has built up during the last six months in sewing machines. This is partly owing to the superiority of the White over all other machines—every purchaser becomes an advocate of its merits. Sales last week were in excess of any previous week since they have been introduced.

Another big drive in towels, table linens, lace curtains and counterpanes received this week.

Men's blue flannel suits 25 per cent. under price.

Madam Strong's corsets—the most comfortable ever invented—everybody likes them. The first supply was exhausted in one week. Try them next time you need one.

Champion Sulky Plow.

HARTFORD, Ky., April 18, 1881, and used the Champion Sulky Plow, sold by D. F. Tracy, Hartford, Ky., and cheerfully recommend it to the public. Having used it only a short time, yet I am satisfied it will accomplish all that is claimed for it by the manufacturer as per catalogue. I have tested it thus far that I am certain it does better breaking than any plow I have ever used, to say nothing of the advantage of riding over hopping clouds. Respectfully, WARREN BARNETT.

Rabid Dogs and Sheep.

COOL SPRING, April 16, 1881.

About six weeks ago a stray hound passed through Mr. G. W. Gordon's yard and attacked the chickens and everything else that happened to be in the yard. It very soon left and went to the field of Mr. A. Gordon and attacked a flock of sheep. One of the finest ewes of the flock was the first victim of the furious beast. Mr. G., happening to be in sight, came to the rescue, but not till the sheep had been bitten several times. He told a couple of boys to catch the dog and tie him, which after doing they killed with a lead. Imagine a human being ascending to a position of height and then, floating out upon the thin atmosphere, for a moment lost from vision, and then seen floating away in the distance. It is the sensation of the TIME.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS. In no way is the power of the press more surely shown than in the universal knowledge that has in less than a year, been diffused throughout fifty millions of people of the wonderful curative properties of that splendid remedy, Kidney-Wort. And the people from the Atlantic to the Pacific have shown their intelligence and their knowledge of what is in the papers, by already making Kidney-Wort their household remedy for all diseases of the kidneys, liver and bowels.—Herald.

Our Washington Letter.

April 14, 1881.

Proceedings in the House of Representatives have hardly ever been more disgraceful than those of the Senate are at this time. What Senator Mahone said yesterday, addressing Senator Hill, of Georgia, was this: "As the Senator falls here to answer the question, I will give him a problem to solve. I say to him that if he did mean to imply that my vote had been or could be bought, he states or undertakes to convey that which is foul, untruthful and false. No man less than a coward would make that statement." Senators who talk in this way ought to be recalled by the States which sent them. This is excuse for Mahone, that he finds every other Hancock Senator believing that he (Mahone) sold himself to the Republicans is a scandal to be compared to Virginia to send for patronage. They do not use any such language in saying so as Mahone uses, but they make it plain to him. They refuse to fit him with something which is never refused to any Senator held to be fit for association with gentlemen. Naturally, all this aggravates Mahone almost beyond endurance. Twice he has used language implying an anxiety to fight with Senators. But no Democratic Senator will fight with him. They laugh at him, they taunt him, they treat his anger with contempt.

There is not, so far as I can see, the slightest indication that this state of things will cease, and the Senate proceed with business. Rumors of a back-down by Democratic Senators are wholly without foundation, and, though the Republicans talk of another caucus in a few days, I don't think it will even consider the advisability of yielding. The party that gives up now confesses the weakness of its cause. But if the session is to go on, precautions should be taken against violence on Mahone's part.

Secretary of the Treasury has "called" the six per cent. bonds which become redeemable this summer, some two hundred millions in amount, but proposes to the owners that they allow the bonds to run on at three and one-half per cent. Most of the owners will consent. When these sixes are so disposed of, the Secretary will issue a similar call for maturing fives, and he thinks these also will be "extended" by the owners. New bonds will be issued exactly like the old ones except that they will be stamped to show the agreement under which the extension is made. The extended bonds will be of five, known as the "Three and a half extended" bond, but among dealers, as "Windmill sixes" and "Windmill fives." Though the Secretary saves money to the Government by this transaction, or seems to, there is grave reason to doubt a final good result from the transaction. He is assuming authority not conferred by law, and never exercised by a Secretary. His act, too, may interfere indirectly with the passage of a three per cent. funding bill, for doubtless many of the bankers which are eagerly eyeing his offer, do so in the belief that Congress will be less inclined to give legal form to its own ideas when it finds that some of the benefits have been anticipated by the Secretary.

Given up by Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?" "I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!" "Well—ad—y! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good!" —Salem Post.

Litchfield Letter.

Friday evening, about 5 o'clock, George Riggs, the only prisoner in our jail, made his escape by boring through the wall. This is the second time that Riggs has gotten out of this jail, and up to this writing has not been captured.

The notorious Jim McIntyre, whom the marshals have been trying to capture for some time, has at last given himself up. Some five or six more have also followed his example, doubtless thinking that sooner or later they would be caught anyhow.

This is the second time that Riggs has gotten out of this jail, and up to this writing has not been captured. The last time, eighteen months or less than six or eight men have made their escape from our jail, and we think it is time for the authorities to put a stop to it in some way. Either build a new jail or try some other man for jailer.

Ed Thomas returned home Thursday from Louisville. He informs us that he will not be a candidate for the Senate. Mr. Lafe Green, of Falls of Rough, is announced as a candidate. Mr. Green is a gentleman well qualified for the position and will no doubt make a strong race.

Property has been changing hands in our town this week. E. Gleason and W. F. Cappinger exchanged houses yesterday, and Geo. A. Cabbage has bought the property now occupied by Cappinger.

We are glad to see Judge J. M. McClure out on the streets again this week. The Judge had a very severe attack of rheumatism.

Mrs. J. N. Eskridge, of Caneyville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. N. Beauchamp.

Col. Joe Mullanbach has been in town for several days. Joe seems to be at home when he gets to Litchfield.

A social was given last night at the residence of W. V. Wortham. Quite a number of the young ladies and gentlemen attended.

I heartily endorse your paragraph in last week's paper in regard to the Breckenridge News. We heard several not very complimentary remarks made concerning the language used in some paragraphs in a late issue of that paper. The wife of J. R. McGrew, living in Hart county, near the Grayson line, committed suicide by drowning herself one night in the Nolichucky river, as Judge Louis Harrell, of Brownsville, has been in town for two or three days.

From COL. L. T. FOSTER.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 10th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gentls:—I had a very high fever, but I had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express. I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to send for it, they ordered three bottles: I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it according to directions, and the fourth day the colic ceased to be lame, and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colic limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the State. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it. Yours truly,

Kendall's Spavin Cure on Human Flesh

PATTON'S MILLS, Washington County, N. Y., Feb. 21st, 1878.

Dr. B. J. Kendall, Dear Sir:—The particular case on which I used your Kendall's Spavin Cure was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your Spavin Cure put the foot to the ground again, and for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it exceeds anything we ever used. Yours truly,

REV. M. P. BELL,
Pastor M. E. Church, Patton's Mills, N. Y.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is sure in its effects, mild in its action, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callosities, sprains, swellings, and all other enlargements of the joints, limbs, or rheumatism in men and for any kind of sprain, whether it be in man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man, beast, or knowledge, for blood and yet certain in its effects.

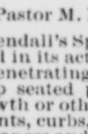

Send address for Informative Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success to our knowledge, for blood and yet certain in its effects.

Price 1/2 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the post.

For Hydrophobia.

The British Medical Journal says that garlic has always had a great reputation among the anti-hydrophobia remedies, and is found as a principle ingredient in a large number of formulae long kept secret. A young man bitten by a mad dog was shut up in a loft. In his delirium he seized some bundles of dried garlic, ate greedily of it, and awoke calm and cured.

A Wise Plan.

Every man should mind his own business, and only that. It is hard to tell him so in plain words, yet it is one of the simplest rules of conduct, and the most useful that mankind can adopt in their intercourse with each other.

There is a great deal of Paul Pry spirit in the human heart, or wonderful inquisitiveness in regard to the personal and private affairs of friends and neighbors. This spirit makes more mischief in the community than almost any other cause. Let every man mind his own business, and there will not be half the trouble in the world that there is at present.

Advice to those in Debt.

Make a full estimate of all you owe, and all that is owing to you. Reduce the same to a note. As fast as you collect it, pay it over to those you owe. If you cannot pay on time, renew your notes every year, giving the best security you can. Go to business diligently and be industrious. Waste no idle moments; be very economical in all things; discard all pride; be faithful in duty to God, and do unto all men as you would they should do unto you.

If you are too needy in circumstances to give to the poor, do whatever else is in your power cheerfully; but if you do so, help the poor and unfortunate.

A MOST REMARKABLE CASE.

A Lady Still Living Who is Said to Have Eaten Nothing since last October.

DETROIT, March 20. A very remarkable case of abstinence from food is now in existence at Bath Creek, in this State.

Last October Mrs. Henry Ingram had some teeth pulled. This brought on nausea at the stomach and inability to retain food. The woman is said to be still alive, having eaten and drunk nothing since October. She is nourished by being bathed in beer tea, milk, etc., which act by the absorption of the pores of the skin absorbing nearly a quart a day from these baths. She feels a sort of hunger, which is soon allayed by a bath, after which she feels as if she had eaten. The bath water will quench her thirst.

How much longer she can live is a problem. Her stomach is said to be totally paralyzed. There seems to be no doubt of the entire genuineness of these remarkable facts.

Joke on a Senator.

Congressman Dagget tells a good story of Senator Sharon, which is printed in a Nevada paper. It seems that when Sharon is not strictly sober he becomes loquacious, and his strong point is history and poetry. He was dining with a lot of "literary sharps" at Boston once, and although he was introduced to them all, he forgot their names, and after the wine had circulated freely for a while Sharon joined in the conversation very liberally. A historical incident was alluded to by him when a quiet man of venerable appearance corrected Sharon's statement. The Senator was quite indignant, and even after the dinner was over the fancied injury rankled in his breast. He went to the host and asked:

"Who is that blank old fool that tried to teach me history?"

"His name is Bancroft," quietly replied the host.

"What does he do?" asked Sharon.

"He writes histories for a living."

"What? Bancroft's History of the United States?"

"Yes."

"Great Scott! Won't you be good enough to order my carriage?"

What an Old Farmer Says.

This is the advice of an old man who has tilled the soil for forty years.

I am an old man, upward of three score years, during two of which I have been rich and have all I need, do not owe a dollar, have given my children a good education, and when I am called away shall leave them enough to keep the wolf from the door. My experience has taught me that:

1. One acre of land, well prepared and well tilled, produced more than two which received only the same amount of labor used on one.

2. One cow, horse, mule, sheep or hog well fed is more profitable than two kept on the same amount necessary to keep one well.

3. One acre of clover or grass is worth more than two of cotton where no grass or clover is raised.

4. No farmer who lays out, corn or wheat, fodder, and hay, can keep the sheriff from the door two or three times. The farmer who never reads the papers, sneers at book farming and improvements, always has a leaky roof, poor stock, broken down fences, and complains of bad "season."

5. The farmer who is above his business and entrusts it to another to manage, soon has no business to attend to.

7. The farmer whose habitual leverage is cold water is healthier, wealthier and wiser than he who does not refuse to drink.

BEAUTIFUL.

Legend of Brotherly Love.

There is a beautiful legend connected with the site on which the Temple of Solomon was erected. It is said to have been occupied in common by two brothers, one of whom had a family—the other had none. On the spot was a field of wheat. On the evening succeeding the harvest—the wheat having been gathered in—the elder brother said to his wife, "My younger brother is unable to bear the burden and heat of the day; I will arise, take off my shoes, and place them in his without his knowing." The other, being actuated by the same benevolent motive, said within himself: "My elder has a family; I have none; I will contribute to their support; I will arise, take off my shoes and place them with his without his knowing." Judge of their mutual astonishment when on the following morning they found their respective shoes undisturbed. This course of events transpired for several nights, when each resolved in his own mind to stand guard and solve the mystery. The day after on the following night they met each other half way between their respective shoes with their arms full. Upon ground followed by such associations as this was the Temple of King Solomon erected—so spacious, so magnificent—the wonder and admiration of the world. Alas! in these days, how many would sooner steal their brother's whole flock than add to it a single sheep.

The Difference.

A good wife is to a man wisdom, strength and courage—a bad one is weakness, confusion and despair. There is no outward property which can counteract indulgence, extravagance and folly at home. It is admitted and acknowledged fact that no spirit can long endure bad influence. Man is strong, but his heart is not adamant; he needs a tranquil mind, and especially if he is an intelligent man, with a whole head, he needs a moral force in the conflict of life. To recover his composure, home must be a place of peace and comfort. There his soul renews his strength and goes forth, with renewed vigor to encounter the labors and troubles of life. But if at home he finds no rest and is there met with bad temper, jealousy and gloom, assailed with complaints and censures, hope vanishes and he sinks into despair. Hence so many suicides, so much degradation and misery, unhappiness and miserable household.

Between male and female there is a difference of kind only—not degree; man is strong, and woman is beautiful and enchanting, and is, in almost all instances, honored, respected and revered; man is during and confident, woman is diffident and unassuming; man is great in action, woman is suffering; man shines abroad, woman poor, weak, mortal, only at home; man talks to convince, woman, to persuade; man has a rugged heart, woman, a soft, tender and delicate one; man shrinks from and prevents misery, woman, noble woman, relieves it; man has a science, and usually knows how to execute it, woman, taste and elegance; man has judgment, woman, sensibility; man, it must be admitted, is a being of justice, woman, an angel of mercy. When man is in his death bed his greatest relief is the presence of a kind mother, a devoted wife or a revered sweetheart.—E. C.

Young Men in Business.

You are just starting in business, and if you wish to succeed, the following landmarks will do you no harm to remember:

Secure the best place for business you can, as public a place as possible.

Furnish your office with the best you can to correspond with your business.

Never permit smoking in your place of business unless you wish to keep from you many of the best business men.

Keep the doors, windows and wood-work clean.

Keep your printed letter heads in place and your correspondence from prying eyes.

Never permit persons not immediately connected with the business to use your printed letter heads if you wish to avoid trouble.

Never permit strangers or persons not connected with your affairs to occupy your desk and use your private pen, etc., or you will soon have your office a slopshop.

Do not permit discussions on other than the immediate business in hand in your office. Such debates lose time and friends.

Never permit men to come in and hang around, telling stories to take the minds of your clerks from their looks or figures, and thus you will save many mistakes.

No matter how much anxious, never permit yourself to use cross words in your office or you will surely lose the respect of both superiors and inferiors.

Do not expect to succeed in one day. Never employ absent-minded, impulsive, dirty-looking clerks.

Treat every person with the same respect you would have others show you. If you would borrow money, pay it the hour it comes due, and if you can not, notify your friend in advance so he can protect himself.

Do not employ in any capacity a clerk or assistant who uses intoxicating liquors as a beverage, or your business will sooner or later be given away.

When you have a place of business, be found there during business hours, or leave word when you will return and be there on time.

Never be outdone in courtesy or politeness.

If you are ill, cross, snappish and disagreeable keep out of the way till your liver is all right, and you are good natured.

Try and deserve success and you will have it.—Great West.

Mr. D. P. Faulds, of Louisville.

Mr. Faulds is the oldest music and musical instrument dealer in Louisville; not personally speaking, for he is what our English cousins would term in the prime of life. He established himself 41 years ago, has grown up in the trade and built a substantial business with the most cultured and influential families of Kentucky, having, perhaps, a larger social connection than any gentleman engaged in the Southern trade. Mr. Faulds was at one time a proprietor of the celebrated Galt House, of which artists visiting Louisville give many genial reminiscences of the invariably bon homie prevailing in the establishment.

His leading piano is the Chickering & Sons, the most popular instrument in the South, of which he has held the agency for the protracted period of 20 years, securing it in 1858; the C. Kurtzman piano he has sold for 22 years; the Ernest Gable piano for 21 years; the Mason & Hamlin and Smith American organs for over 20 years. Among his other goods we find the Grovesman & Fuller and William Wheelock pianos; the New Haven and Bay State organs; a variety of instruments a few dealers could control so successfully as does Mr. Faulds.

The above facts give us a glimpse of the character and stability of the man, which is further strengthened when we consider that nearly all the attaches of his house have been for half a lifetime connected with the business. Mr. Faulds having early formed the idea that the best way to secure efficient aid was to secure men possessing the requisite qualities—character, then in the business and treat them with all the respect due their station so as to retain their services. His piano mover and packer, a colored man, is at present the Secretary of the Colored School Board, and is said to be worth over $10,000 his engraver and printer has been with him twenty-seven years; his book-keeper and piano-tuner over twenty years each. Such a showing we have not found in any establishment in the trade heretofore, and it speaks volumes for Mr. Faulds' sagacity, executive ability and sterling character, which have won him a reputation second to none, as a merchant whose word is as good as his bond.

Mr. Faulds' building is 34,200 ft., three stories high, devoted entirely to music publications and musical instruments. His office is so situated as to overlook the entire ware-rooms, and is connected with his residence by a telephone of his own designing, which brings him in instantaneous communication with the household, which is very convenient, inasmuch as it has been Mr. Faulds' habit for many years to go to his business at six o'clock in the morning, a custom which means success to all who indulge it, although it is like "the bad habit of newspaper subscription," very difficult to throw off. During the past four years Mr. Faulds' business has increased sixty per cent. In the second week of March he sold by order and the usual quota of pianos. He is also the largest dealer in sheet music and small musical instruments in Louisville, and has done much to promote the healthy musical taste in the community.—American Art Journal.
